The Sunday Akinsola Foundation for Widows & Orphans ministry in Nigeria –

The teaching emphasis at both Kajola & Ogbomosho was from Proverb 31 for Mother’s Day celebrations. The characteristics of a godly woman were explained as a person of dignity, that works hard to provide for family no matter the situation, & good example in the community where she lives. They were encouraged to keep trusting God & teach their children to live in the Lord.

The ladies at Kajola were given a pack of cookies with bottled water & $2.50 each for the bus. Also, pack of rice, salt, & sodas to take home.

The Ogbomosho group had different than usual meetings with the children included in the activities, with all enjoying a meal with cooked rice & fish, & games for the children. They took home cookies, sodas, salt, & $1 for bus. (Less distance to travel in smaller town than Kajola)

We give glory to God for the progress made on the building construction for the roofing & the windows installed. The electrical work is the current project. We pray by July to have the plastering done inside & out, then plumbing & flooring. The prayers & contributions have been such a blessing! It has also been a boost for the local economy for the construction workers to have employment, & for the neighborhood to see the building progress. The widows’ chapel has brought favor to the community with a big street improvement & electricity extended to the property.

Prayer points from Abiodun:

For completion of the 2-story Widows Chapel.

A bus needed that would hold about 20 people.

Purchase of 2 tents each $550 to have a crusade at each location (60 people).

Summer Inductive Bible Studies – The Purpose of Prayer: A Collection on Prayer, Volume One: As followers of Jesus, we know that prayer is essential to our daily walk with Him. But at times, the practice of prayer can begin to feel stagnant or obligatory—just another thing to check off the list. Jesus invites us to something much deeper—a flourishing prayer life that draws us closer to the heart of God. Dive into Volume One of Precept’s Prayer Collection and know God more deeply! Join us as we journey through Scripture to discover the true purpose of prayer and its ability to transform our hearts and lives and our relationship with our Heavenly Father.

Who: Anyone who has a desire to experience the Bible's life-changing power and to personally engage with the Word through the inductive study method. (Coed)

Save the Dates – The Promises of Prayer: A Collection on Prayer, Volume Two: Do you ever wonder if God hears your prayers or if He’ll truly answer? In The Promises of Prayer (Volume II), you’ll find the assurance you need in God's unshakable faithfulness. Explore His promises to hear and respond when we turn to Him in prayer—and discover truths to cling to when life is difficult, and your prayers feel wasted. As you grow in trust and intimacy with the Father, you’ll be encouraged to pray with confidence, knowing that His heart is for you. In this study, you’ll embark on a journey through Scripture to draw closer to our trustworthy God and experience communion with the Father who promises to draw near to you.
