

We extend sympathy to Peggy Adleberg and family in the death of her sister-in-law, Gwendolyn (Gwen) Adleberg, on August 5th. Gwen brought joy and smiles wherever she went, quickly turning strangers into friends. She was an ambassador of “goodwill” where she resided the last three years at Raleigh Rehab. Nicknamed Gebee there, she scooted with her wheelchair to all the floors to say goodnight to the residents and staff. She loved sitting outside and listening to the birds and appreciated objects of beauty like bright clothes and decorative jewelry. We are comforted that she can now behold beauty that our earthly vocabulary can’t describe.

The Sunday Akinsola Foundation for Widows & Orphans ministry in Nigeria –

Both locations were moving their July meetings to early August. Ogbomoso is to celebrate the birthday of a friend of the ministry from the U.S. that wanted to bless the widows. They will also have prayer giving glory to God for the harvest of cassava (a healthy, energy-rich root vegetable) from the Akinsola Foundation Garden. After the meeting, they will go out & gather the cassava by hand & have it taken to a place that grinds it up to be distributed to the ladies for cooking.

The Kajola group will celebrate one of the leader’s 50th birthday who continues to be a huge blessing after fifteen years of leadership.

Installation of the ceiling is current project for the new Kajola worship center. As donations are received, they will start the next job. It would be advantageous to get the building completed as soon as possible since costs increase rapidly. Once completed, the large meeting room can be rented out for weddings and special events to be a source of revenue when the widows aren’t meeting.

Hear what Jesus taught about the kingdom of God and how you, today, can be prepared for the difficult times ahead and to stand before the Son of Man.
